

C.R.A.P Design :

1)- Contrast :

The Background-color of navigation bar is whitesmoke, which has a contrast with the text color. The border of the image of Ratan Tata and Sundar Pichai, which also has the contrast with their image respectively. The background color of the class is antiquewhite, which is also a contrast with the color of text of order list.

2)- Repetition :

In Navigation bar, all elements present in the tag nav are styled with same styling because the style applies to the multiple elements. The list elements which are the child elements of unordered list has same styling which matches with multiple elements. Black border applies to the both images on the second page and white border to the image on the first page.

3)- Alignment :

The container element is aligned using the "float: right" property, which aligns it to the right edge of its parent container. And, the container element is aligned using the "float: right" property, which aligns it to the right edge of its parent container.

4)- Proximity :

The tag nav and element a elements have a margin-bottom property set to 2% which adds space between the navigation bar and the content below the navigation bar. The division class Grid selector has margin-top and margin-bottom set to 4%, which adds space between the grid of images and the surrounding content. The h4 + a selector has a margin property set to 1% which creates the space between the element h4 and the link below it. The div class Idol has the margin-left and margin-right set to 1% and 4% respectively, which adds space between the grid of images and the other content. And The img [alt~="Sundar"] selector has a margin-bottom set to 3% which adds space between the image of Sundar Pichai and the other content.